Key learnings from doing business in East Africa

- Family businesses seeking to professionalise their management structure and improve governance are helping to drive PE deal activity in the region
- The strong fundamentals of the education sector in Kenya, coupled with a focus on strong leadership and world-class facilities contributed to student growth, financial viability and sustainability
- PE plays an important role in the development of strong educational businesses in the region with global appeal as evidenced by the school's selection to participate in the G20 Group of Schools, as well as its sale to an international buyer

Research Methodology

Private equity (PE) is defined as both private equity and venture capital.

Transactions cover all investments made by private equity firms across all sectors, including infrastructure. It excludes PIPE transactions where the PE firm was unlikely to have any influence on company strategy. It includes initial and follow-on investments.

Deals dates are taken to be the date on which the deal is announced, unless otherwise specified.

Deals value includes equity, mezzanine, senior debt and significant co-investments (where available).

Sectors for transactions are based on Global Industry Classification Standard classifications.

Vintage year of fundraising is based on year of final close, where available. If a fund has achieved a final close but the year of final close is not known, year of first close is used instead.

GPs that are included have raised, or are raising, third-party PE funds from institutional investors.

Qualifying funds include funds that have a sole focus on Africa or have an allocation to Africa alongside a broader emerging markets investment mandate. Funds with a global investment remit that invest in Africa are excluded.

Key learnings from doing business in East Africa

- A local presence is key to understanding the intricacies of target markets, selecting the rights partners and creating value in the SME/mid-market space
- Due to limited individual market sizes and increased integration, developing a regional strategy prior to investing is critical
- With intensifying competition and increasingly sophisticated customer behaviour affecting top line and margin growth, private equity needs to utilise deep operational and strategic expertise to realise target returns
